Hi Julian

Thank you for your email and for confirming that there are no objections to the survey work.

If we do come across any unexpected archaeological material, we would be more than happy to record it and let you know.

We will be in touch if we have any further questions.

Warm regards

Rachel

Dear Rachel,

I was forwarded your email from our enquiries team regarding the Dragon LNG Band 1 survey work in the Milford Haven waterway. I can confirm that the RCAHMW has no objections to the survey work on the basis of any impact to known marine archaeological sites.

A caveat to this is that there are a large number of shipwreck losses around the Welsh coast for which there is no known location. One of these is recorded as lost in the general area of the survey - https://coflein.gov.uk/en/site/272683/ - and so there is potential for remains relating to this vessel to be encountered. The nature of the proposed work is very low impact, so if you do come across any unexpected archaeological material, we would be grateful if you could record the location, and inform us.

I deal with all of the marine archaeological work and marine licensing work at the RCAHMW so can act as a point of contact for the above, further questions, and for any future work applications, etc.

Yours

Julian
