Introductory note

This introductory note does not form a part of the notice

The following notice gives notice of the surrender in part of an environmental permit.

Three areas are surrendered from the installation. They have not been used for the installation activity, and are required by the owner for other purposes. One area of land (Area A) was the original planned route of a pipeline from the anaerobic digester to the storage lagoon. This pipeline was never built as a different route was constructed. The second (Area B) comprises of an open-fronted drying shed and associated hardstanding, which was originally intended for solid anaerobic digester residue. This has not been required as residue characteristics differed from original expectations. It has therefore not been used for the anaerobic digester residue. The third (Area C) is a small section of the waste reception building which is shared between the AD facility and other activity (separately permitted Waste Facility, permit reference WB3993HE). The surrendered area was mistakenly included in the original AD permit. This area was never used by the AD facility and is currently used by the waste facility. The operator has provided a site condition report containing a description of the current condition and any known history of contamination or pollution of the areas of site to be surrendered. We consider this report is satisfactory. There were no reported incidents of contamination of the areas, and no significant potential for ground contamination was identified.

The status log of a permit sets out the permitting history, including any changes to the permit reference number.
