Hello Lucy,

Hope you are well and had a nice Easter.

We have attended this location on three occasions now and there is a van parked over the top of the hydrant each time. We are not able to locate the owner of the van not sure if it is left there and they travel in a separate vehicle during the working day.

Here are the details I have been able to capture so far, we are continuing to visit:

3 NEW LAMBY WORKSHOP, , LAMBY WAY, RUMNEY, CARDIFF, CF3 2EQ

Located at BNG: X:321976 Y:178582.

The hydrant is located on a 125mm MDPE main which was laid in 1991.

The hydrant is accessible, although known to have vehicles parked over the top.

This hydrant is not adopted or maintained by South Wales Fire and Rescue service.

We are unable to provide flow rates as DCWW are not able to measure flow via our hydrants. The flow rates change depending on demand so we are unable to accurately record flow readings.

We are waiting for confirmation of pressure on the hydrant and also the condition within the chamber.

Any further questions I can always try to help.

Thanks

Lauren Mitchell
