Lafarge Tarmac to become Tarmac Cement and Lime Ltd on 1 August

Dear Sir/Madam,

As you are aware CRH plc is buying all of the assets being sold by Lafarge and Holcim as part of their global merger. This includes Lafarge Tarmac, with the exception of Cauldon and Cookstown cement plants.

The Lafarge Holcim merger has now completed, and Cauldon and Cookstown cement plants have become part their UK operations.

Lafarge Tarmac's sale to CRH has now been completed as of the end of July. From 1 August 2015 we become part of CRH's global business, and will be known as Tarmac.

Tarmac is an evolution of two iconic British construction brands – the pioneers of the modern road and the market leaders in cement – with a combined breadth of capability that covers aggregates and asphalt, readymix concrete, cement, lime and powders, contracting and building products.

CRH is the world's third largest building materials supplier with a solid track record and experience in the building industry.

As a result of the change in name we request that the permits associated with xxx are changed to reflect the new name Tarmac Cement and Lime Ltd. Please note there is no change in the legal entity as the corporate registration has remained the same.
