Built in 1883 and originally a French ship, she transferred to the British flag and registered at Gibraltar. The vessel was raised and sold for breaking, some debris may remain on the seabed.
3	267200	191100	Vague	515725	Documented loss	Aircraft (Beaufighter)	Modern	Documented loss of Bristol Beaufighter IIF T3146. Recorded as being lost in Swansea Bay – no indication of wreckage at this location – for filing only.
4	268990	192080	General	90542	Cartographic / HER record	Fish trap	Modern	A large 'V' shaped fish trap is visible on an historic Admiralty chart (1883-4) and is represented by what appears to be a wide scatter of stones (up to 200m in places), indicating that it had fallen into disrepair at the time the area was surveyed. The majority of the fish trap is located under what is now King's Dock and Queen's Dock.
5	270500	192500	General	04633w	HER record	Wreck	Post-medieval	Crymlyn Burrows Wreck. Substantial remains of a timber wreck, possibly a barge or trow but classification cannot be definite, partially obscured by build-up of sand and standing water, lying on open beach approx. 150m seaward of dunes known as Crymlyn Burrows. Evaluated in 1997 (Nayling 1997).
